

Handling .zip files.

Download the file to your hard drive. Double click on the file. It will open a box that asks where to unzip the file to. Choose or create a folder for the files. It may be helpful to unzip the files to a folder where other music files are stored on your computer. If you plan to download all the available tours, we recommend that you create a new folder for the tours.

To create CDs or transfer music to digital music player (iPod, etc.): open your music-playing software (e.g. Windows Media Player or iTunes). If you would like to create CDs for use in your vehicle, see the instructions for creating an audio CD in your software. If you would like to listen to the material on a digital music player, its software may automatically import the tracks; if this does not occur, follow the instructions for importing music into the program. Once that is complete, you can transfer the files to the player.
